

I believe that it is time for telemarketers to close up shop. I pay for my phone and I choose not to have the line I am paying for used by these companies. As the mother of 5 I have far better things to do with my time than to answer the phone and have to say "no thank you" at all hours of the day and night. I understand that telemarketing is a money maker. I just don't understand why I should have to pay for it with my time. Please keep the telemarketers from invading my privacy and using my phone line for their profit.
